REQUEST FOR EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST (EOI) 23172 AVIATION MAINTENANCE TECHNOLOGY FACILITY FOR PIERPONT COMMUNITY AND TECHNICAL COLLEGE

OVERVIEW

The West Virginia Community and Technical College System (“WVCTCS” and/or “Owner”) is seeking Expressions of Interest (“EOI”) from architectural firms experienced in planning, designing, and providing construction administration services for a new facility to house Pierpont Community and Technical College’s (“PCTC”) expanding Aviation Maintenance Technology Program. The program is currently housed in the Robert C. Byrd National Aerospace Education Center adjacent to the North-Central West Virginia Airport, in Bridgeport, West Virginia. PCTC is expanding the program to provide additional work force support to the local aerospace industry and needs a larger facility to accomplish this mission.

PCTC’S AVIATION MAINTENANCE TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM (PRIMARY PROJECT)

US Department of Transportation Federal Aviation Administration (“FAA”) issued the Air Agency Certificate # MUET028k to the Robert C. Byrd National Aerospace Education Center on January 12, 1994. The Center is authorized as an Aviation Maintenance Technician School with the following ratings: (1) Airframe, (2) Powerplant, and (3) Airframe & Powerplant.

PCTC currently offers several degree pathways to the local aerospace workforce. The original two-year Associate of Applied Science degree (AAS) in Aviation Maintenance Technician is complemented by three new one-year Certificate of Applied Science degrees (CAS) in (1) Airframe Technology, (2) Aviation Powerplant Technology, and (3) Avionics Technology.

The current FAA approved capacity is 130 students (this includes High School dual enrollment). In the last 5 years, enrollment has increased by 113%. Fall 2022 enrollment is currently at 113 and recruiting to fill the remaining available seats for Spring 2023 is underway. The target capacity with a new larger facility is planned at 200. This expansion will enable PCTC to better meet the growing needs of the local aerospace industry. The Aviation Maintenance Technology degrees qualify for West Virginia Invests. Jobs created by the expansion of the aerospace industry in Harrison County is anticipated to produce hundreds of jobs in the next few years. PCTC supports the local aerospace partners by providing a trained, graduating workforce, and coordinates with our non-credit division, and offers a test prep course for those already working in the aerospace industry who have been signed off on their FAA 8610 form to take their written exams and the Oral & Practical exams for their A & P certification. PCTC’S advisors and partners in the local aerospace industry include Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, Pratt & Whitney, Bombardier, Lockheed Martin, Aurora Flight Sciences now a Boeing Company, KCI Aviation, HQ Aero, EASW, and the Fixed Wing Army Aviation Training Site. PCTC’S service region is a hotspot for Aviation Maintenance jobs.

The Center has been in existence since 1994. Since its inception over 1,500 aviation maintenance students have received training which has had a positive effect in the earning power of local residents achieving AVMT training and their A & P certifications. The Center is now training the children of our alumni. That speaks volumes to the effectiveness of PCTC'S training program and the reputation of the A&P School.

A new building concept plan and initial programming for this facility is included in PCTC'S recently approved Ten-Year Campus Development Plan (Facilities Master Plan). This plan is available at the URL where EOI 23172 is posted (see page 5).

AFFILIATED PROJECTS (SECONDARY PROJECTS)

There are two affiliated projects that are currently in the planning and/or FAA approval process that may require architectural/engineering services:

New Aviation Maintenance Technician (AMT) School for Eastern West Virginia Community and Technical College (EWVCTC): This educational program is intended to be a satellite operation with PCTC's AMT Program.

An existing facility under consideration to house EWVCTC'S program is located at the Cumberland Regional Airport, Wiley Ford, WV. This facility is approximately 13,735 GSF based upon information provided. The hangar space is approximately 11,452 GSF and the administrative area consists of 2,283 GSF. The facility, specifically the hangar, meets the basic space requirements, but will require renovations and expansions to accommodate all of the FAA requirements for an AMT facility. The airframe and powerplant curriculums will require classrooms/lab spaces for which the current footprint and layout is not suitable. In addition, secured storage, equipment support spaces and general support spaces are necessitated by the educational program requirements as well as code compliance. Based on initial planning, the total area required, with expansion, is approximately 15,900 GSF, which coincides with the recommend area for a potential AMT School.

The current plan is to provide designated space for two classrooms and two shop/lab spaces, which will accommodate 50 students; however, in the initial program start-up enrollment is expected to be about 10 to 15 students. This should provide the basic space requirement for instruction of the general, powerplant and airframe curriculum. With thoughtful scheduling of spaces, avionics can also be accommodated based on the anticipated student population.

New Aviation Maintenance Technician (AMT) School for New River Community and Technical College (NRCTC): This educational program will be an intendent start-up under NRCTC with an experienced manager familiar with FAA requirements and application process.

An existing facility at the Raleigh County Memorial Airport is being purchased for this program. The facility, in particular the hangar space, will require updates and renovations to accommodate all of the FAA requirements for an AMT facility, but it does satisfy the basic space requirements. This includes all systems, equipment, utilities, and the building enclosure. Basic modifications and expansion of the existing facility is necessary in order to accommodate the new AMT curriculum requirements. The airframe and powerplant curriculums will require classroom / lab spaces for which the current footprint and layout is not suitable. In addition, secured storage, equipment support spaces and general support spaces are necessitated by the educational program requirements as well as code compliance. This facility totals 7,021 GSF with the hangar space of approximately 6,607 GSF and the administrative area of 414 GSF. Total area contemplated for the program with expansion is 8,521 GSF. This is less than the recommend area for a potential AMT School which is 10,000 to 15,000 SF. The current plan is to provide instruction of the required curriculum, specifically the general classes, at the NRCTC main campus. Lab and hand-on classes will be held at the airport facility.

Current anticipated student class enrollment is limited to 25 students, but initially at program start-up enrollment is anticipated to be 10 to 15 students. The 25-student limit is based upon number of faculty and classroom size.

If these programs successfully secure FAA authorization/approval and funds are available, program confirmation, design, and construction administration services for one or both projects may, but not necessarily, be added to this engagement as separate projects.

SCOPE OF SERVICES

The selected architect will work with WVCTCS staff and PCTC's faculty and staff to: (1) confirm the project program, (2) design a flexible, state-of-the-art facility that meets programmatic needs and FAA requirements, is aesthetically pleasing and energy efficient; (3) develop a logical and economic construction phasing plan for the current project and future expansion; (4) provide construction administration services; (5) assist with Owner purchased and installed equipment and furniture, and (6) coordinate services as needed and work seamlessly with the Owner's other consultants, i.e., geotechnical engineers, construction quality control testing consultants, HVAC commissioning agent, etc.

EXPRESSIONS OF INTEREST AND EVALUATION

Architectural firms interested in being considered for this engagement should provide the following which the WVCTCS and PCTC staff will use to evaluate and select the architectural firm(s) that the staff believes to be the best qualified to provide the services requested:

1. Relevant prior experience of the firm, the professionals it assigns to the project, including its proposed consultants, (the "project team") with similar projects and in meeting FAA requirements that apply to the project. (25 points maximum)
2. Perceived quality of the firm's management and project team's capability to provide the scope of services identified above. The firm will be expected to clearly demonstrate that it has the expertise, flexibility to work with WVCTCS, its other consultants, and PCTC staff to meet program, design, and construction objectives. (25 points maximum)

3. The principals and project personnel assigned to the project, including consultant's personnel, should be LEED Accredited Professionals. (15 points maximum)
4. Determination that the firm and project team is of sufficient size and has the capability to manage the project by providing services on a timely basis and within the project schedule and fee agreed to at the outset. (15 points maximum)
5. The perceived ability of the firm and project team to produce the kind of facility envisioned; experience in designing flexible, aesthetically pleasing, energy efficient "green" buildings, by applying LEED design principals and objectives to the facility. (20 points maximum)

Interested firms should submit a brochure clearly and concisely covering the evaluative criteria above as well as the firm's history, resumes of principals and proposed project team, including proposed consultants, organizational arrangement, and at least three references from recent clients with similar projects.

Expressions of interest will be used by the interview/selection committee (comprised of WVCTCS and PCTC staff/personnel) to select the most experienced and qualified firm and project team (in the committee's opinion). Firms under final consideration may be interviewed prior to making a final decision. A stipulated sum fee and a not-to-exceed amount for reimbursable expenses will be negotiated with the selected firm.
